

Hortau: Flow Meter Monitoring Made Easy

With increasing regulations on the tracking of water use, growers are being asked to provide more and more data on water use to an assortment of agencies.

Hortau's flow meter monitoring services make real-time water monitoring and reporting easy, preventing growers from having to read meters manually.

Hortau's monitoring systems report water use information to the cloud, giving growers and irrigation managers access to usage data 24/7 via a mobile device or computer.

Hortau's full-service offering also includes installation, maintenance and training, ensuring that growers receive the most accurate and reliable meter data.
